Henderson-Hartsfield joins Eye Bank Board of Directors

CLARK – The Lions Eye Bank of New Jersey is pleased to announce that Beverly Henderson-Hartsfield, R.N., B.A. has joined its Board of Directors.

Henderson-Hartsfield is passionate about community service, and has devoted her career to the non-profit world. She is currently the Executive Director of Echoes – the Grief Center, a non-profit organization dedicated to coping with grief, death and bereavement issues. She has also served as the Director of Maternal Child Health Services at the Hospital Center at Orange and was the first woman to hold the position of Executive Director of 100 Black Men of New Jersey, Inc.

“We’re very excited to have Beverly on our Board,” says Margaret Chaplin, Executive Director of the Lions Eye Bank of New Jersey. “Her experience and enthusiasm make her a wonderful addition to our organization.”

Henderson-Hartsfield is a registered nurse and a graduate of Queensboro School of Nursing and Baruch College. She resides in East Orange with her husband, David. They have two daughters and three grandchildren.

The Lions Eye Bank of New Jersey is a charitable, not-for-profit organization dedicated to the restoration of sight. It recovers, evaluates and distributes human eye tissue for transplantation. It also supports research into the causes and cures of blinding eye conditions, promotes donation awareness through public and professional education, and provides humanitarian aid to people in need of corneal transplantation throughout the world. For more information, visit the Lions Eye Bank of New Jersey online at www.lionseyebanknj.org or call (800) 653-9379.
